List of periodicals of interest to agricultural meteorologists

The list below is divided into sections by country, and each section is subdivided into the following classes of publications: “meteorological” (or “meteorological/climatological”), “agricultural” (or “agricultural/agrometeorological”) and “general scientific”. Most of the information is presented as provided by the individual countries. Many countries provide agrometeorological forecasts and products that can be found at the World AgroMeteorological Information Service website (www.wamis.org). (NOTE: “Bimonthly” is understood herein to mean six times per year.)
